

ELECTRIFYING THOUGHTS

On language, semantic memory, & sleep, by 5 UCSD alum
Thursday 16, 2022, 9:00am-4:30pm

In association with celebration of retirement of Professor Marta Kutas

Place: PEB 721, on the northeast corner of Sixth College (look for Showa Ramen or Blue Bowl).

Or join Zoom Meeting <https://ucsd.zoom.us/j/99720524132>

9:00		Melissa Troyer, Ph.D. Beckman, UIUC	“Nuances of knowing: What studying a fictional world can tell us about how brains create meaning from language in real time”
10:00		Break
10:15		Professor Robert Kluender Linguistics, UC San Diego	“Ritual and recursion: Circling no man is not an island for 30 years”
11:15		Break
11:30		Professor Arielle Borovsky Psychology, Purdue	“Building semantic networks”
12:30		Lunch break
2:00		Professor Ken Paller Psychology, Northwestern	“From memory to sleep to dreaming and back again”
3:00		Break
3:15		Professor Kara Federmeier Psychology, UIUC	“Evocative potentials: Making us see sense”

This event is supported by the Department of Cognitive Science and the Social Sciences Division Special Initiatives Fund